ABOUT THIS WINERY

Hervé Joyaux Fabre, a true visionary, bought old Malbec vines planted in 1908 and made Fabre Montmayou the first "bodega-boutique" in Argentina. Once the Mendoza winery was built, Hervé decided to buy vines and a winery in Rio Negro, Patagonia. The cool climate of this southern region, combined with a unique terroir, allows him to create great wines, in a different style from those produced in Mendoza.

PRODUCT NOTES

Manual harvest in April in small trays of 20 kg to avoid damage, then sorted to select the best grapes for this wine. Cold maceration lasts 5 days, then fermentation in temperature controlled tanks at 26-28 ° C. Aged 100% in French oak barrels for 12 months. Floral aromas of violet, black cherry, blackberry, licorice and oak. Balanced wine with silky and delicate tannins.
