ABOUT THIS WINERY

Tradition is the precondition for creating a new vision and this is particularly true with wine.

The very place in which wine is made is often the bridge between the past and the future. The JURIS winery is located in the city of Gols, a place where wine has been the primary source of living ever since the great folk migrations between the fourth and sixth centuries.

PRODUCT NOTES

Manual harvest with severe sorting in the vineyard. Classic fermentation with minimal interventions so that the grapes express the terroir with clarity. After fermentation, the wine remains in vats until the end of the malolactic process. After devatting, the wine is aged for a few months in large French oak barrels.
